FACT SHEET

WHAT IS THE COCONINO REGIONAL PARTNERSHIP COUNCIL ORAL HEALTH RFGA?

The Coconino Regional Partnership Council will implement a process to improve oral health in rural, remote and culturally diverse communities in the region. First Things First Coconino Regional Partnership Council has identified the need to identify evidence-based approaches and initiate delivery of effective programs for improving children's oral health across the Coconino Region by informing expectant mothers about the importance of oral health care during pregnancy and its effects on the developing child and newborn; encouraging families and expectant mothers to seek preventive oral health care for children birth through age five; instill positive oral health habits among young children; conduct outreach to connect families to preventive oral health care treatments; increase delivery of oral health screenings; and encourage dentists and other oral health professionals to address the oral health needs of children birth through age five.

Applicants must provide their plans for outreach, recruitment, engagement and retention of participants, demonstrating how they will effectively target preventive oral health efforts to families of children birth through age five and expectant mothers with limited access to preventative dental care. As part of successful program implementation, Applicants should describe how they will ensure any recommendations work to leverage existing resources in the community.
